Stilborne

Hi, my name is Wes & I was the lead guitar player for the band, Stilborne in the seventies, also a representative.

Stilborne is a heavy garage Rock band that played in the seventies. These songs were recorded on an Akai reel to reel tape recorder in 1973! Staring Faces is the only song with lyrics.

These songs have gone through hell throughout the years, (being on 8 track tape) & have been restored to the best possible sound. Most of the songs on this album are cover songs. Only 3 are originals & so only the originals will be uploaded, unless otherwise posted.

P.S. these recordings were done about 3 months after we formed, so we were still working on getting it to together, so the songs are a bit ruff. Unfortunately, we weren't able to record our songs after we were together for a year, because relatively good recording equipment was expensive & hard to get then & the recordings would have probably ended up, anyway, in some one elses garage, buried alive.....

Hey everyone, if you would like a taste of what a 1970's garage band sounded like in the seventies, check out the sounds of Stilborne. These songs were actually recorded by Stilborne in 1973 on a Akai Reel to Reel tape recorder. They sat in the bass players "garage", packed away for over 30 years, until I got my hands on them. I want to share them with you. Very rarely will you hear sounds from recorded garage bands in the seventies or early days. Here's your chance to have a piece of rock garage band history.

Check em out.
